THREE BOYS ARE HELD HERE FOR THEFT OF MAIL

Chicago Lads Admit to Taking Letters from Rural Mail Boxes

Three Chicago youths are being held in the city jail awaiting the arrival of Postal Inspector Olson of Rockford, who will make an investigation into the theft of large quantities of mail from rural boxes in the vicinity of Franklin Grove. The boys will probably be taken to Freeport this afternoon to be arraigned before Federal Commissioner J. L. Vance.

The trio, giving the names of Charles Schettler, aged 15, 530 Marshall street, Chicago, leader of the gang; and Tom Tracey and Walter Solan, aged 13 each, of the same neighborhood, were taken in custody about 3:30 yesterday afternoon on the Pump Factory road in the southwest part of the city. They were driving a Ford coupe which they were about to abandon when it became stuck in the mud. Schettler appeared to be not only the leader but the spokesman for the trio and made a confession to Chief Van Bibber in which he admitted having stolen the car from Division street near Marshall avenue in Chicago Wednesday. Hunting up Tracey and Solan, they also had been running a car as their objective, but were halted at Dixon.

Admits Mail Theft
In the rear of the car was a large can of milk, which the boys stated they took from near a farm in the vicinity of Franklin Grove. The can bore initials and according to the boy's story, was one of five cans which were standing beside the road. Mail boxes in the vicinity of Franklin Grove had also been tampered with and their contents strewn along the highway as the car proceeded westward. Schettler today admitted having taken the mail from the box at the C. E. Spaulding farm, one of which was in his possession, but Chief Van Bibber in the Franklin Grove post office, indicated that more than a score of boxes had been rifled and the mail matter stolen.

Schettler also had about 20 different styles and sizes of automobile keys in his possession, which he could not account for. All of the boys are from Polish families and two of the number, according to their own stories, had been in the juvenile courts of Chicago.

Banker of Franklin Grove, Sunday afternoon, over the remains at the McWethy residence this morning at 10 o'clock, the jury returning a verdict finding that death was the result of a gun shot wound from a 32 caliber revolver, self-inflicted with suicidal intent, while worrying over financial conditions and the health of his two children residing in Freeport. A daughter is suffering from pneumonia and his son is also said to be in poor health. Several witnesses were examined at the inquest, but none could cast any light on the hour when the shooting occurred.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 18—(AP)—Failure of the Miami coal wage conference negotiations and early adjournment were forecast today by Herman E. Perry of Illinois, a member of the sub-committee appointed to work out a new wage agreement for the central competitive field.

Mr. Perry said that before the committee resumed its executive sessions that the conference was rapidly drawing to a close and that he did not believe an agreement would be made here. In his belief the conference would adjourn next week. It was generally conceded that negotiations would be resumed at some other place in event an agreement is not reached here. The present contract expires March 31.

WING OF ARMY PLANE IS FOUND AFLOAT ON SEA

Two Langley Field Men Missing: Fear They Have Met Death

Michel Field, Feb. 18—(AP)—Lieut. W. J. Harris and Dr. Irvin Pilot William A. Gray, both of Langley Field, were missing today after leaving here by air for their home field yesterday and the likelihood was being investigated that the airplane wing found by coast guards at Forked River, N. J., was a shattered remnant of their plane.

Forked River, N. J., Feb. 18—(AP)—Finding of the wing of an airplane bearing army insignia in the breakers north of Island Beach station was announced today by the coast guard. The wing was marked number 11 and displayed a white star on a red field surrounded by a blue circle. Guardsmen are combing beaches and scanning the water for traces of additional wreckage.

New York, Feb. 18—(AP)—Aviators from Michel Field started by air today to investigate the wreckage of an airplane wing found at Forked River, N. J., with a view to ascertaining whether it is the same plane that left Michel Field for Langley Field, Va., yesterday. The ship has not been heard from since it left.

Mexico Denies Truth of Kellogg Statement
Mexico City, Feb. 18—(AP)—The Mexican department of commerce and industry challenges the accuracy of Secretary Kellogg's recent report to the American senate on the Mexican oil situation, in a declaration published today.

While the department's statement is made, it says, with the intention of "rectifying errors contained in press dispatches from the United States, originating perhaps from vicious information spread by a group of interests opposed to the Mexican laws," the main point dealt with are those made in Secretary Kellogg's report.

NEGRO HANGED IN CHICAGO AT EARLY HOUR, SHORTLY AFTER CELL MATE GOT HIS REPRIEVE

Chicago, Feb. 18—(AP)—Two hours after he had witnessed the arrival of a reprieve for the death cell mate who was to have been executed with him, Oscar Quarles, negro slayer, was hanged at 7 o'clock this morning. Last night it appeared that the most likely chance for a stay of execution was in the case of Quarles, but when the warden hurried to the death cell at 5 a. m., it was with a reprieve for the other negro, Sam Washington.

Washington, sentenced to die for slaying his common law wife, was denied an appeal by Gov. Small but at the eleventh hour his attorneys obtained from Judge Miller a stay of a week in which to prepare an appeal on a plea of error in the conviction. Quarles was convicted of killing a holdup victim after being twice tried.

SHANGHAI IS NEAR CAPTURE; POWERS STRENGTHEN FORCE

Key City of Hangchow is Taken by Nationalist Army After Fight

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Nationalist forces of the Cantonese government in China are drawing in closer around Shanghai. They are in full possession of the key city of Hangchow, only 113 miles from Shanghai and enormously important as a base.

Defeated troops of Marshal Sun Chuan Pang, defender of Shanghai, are in full retreat toward Shanghai with no indication that any further stand will be made in Chekiang province, of which Hangchow was the capital. Sun's troops looted and partially burned Hangchow before retreating.

Ningpo, a treaty port eighty miles east of Hangchow and only a hundred miles from Shanghai, has been taken by the nationalists. Its northern defenders retreated to Shanghai.

Telegraphic communication between Shanghai and Hangchow is interrupted.

Foreign powers continue to strengthen their forces at Shanghai. The American transport Chaumont carrying 1,200 marines, has been diverted from Guam direct to Shanghai. Another British battalion is on its way from Hongkong to Shanghai.

The British government continues hopeful that the negotiations with Foreign Minister Chen of the Cantonese government regarding the status of Hangchow will succeed.

BULLETIN

Hongkong, Feb. 18—(AP)—The British cruisers Caradoc and Durban left here for Shanghai today.

Shanghai, Feb. 18—(AP)—The defeated northern army of Marshal Sun Chuan Pang was in full retreat toward Shanghai today while the victorious Cantonese war machine rolled into Hangchow, picturesque key city to the defense system of the lower Yangtze valley without resistance.

All communications between Shanghai and Hangchow has been severed. At present there are 10,000 of Marshal Sun's troops at various points on the Hangchow-Shanghai Railway indicating the Shanghai war lord will make no further stand in Chekiang province, of which Hangchow is the capital.

Capture of Hangchow by the Cantonese gives them a great revenge in their struggle toward Shanghai. It gives the nationalists control of the southern terminus of the grand canal which runs the full length of Kiangsu province and 1,000 miles northward to Tientsin. It also gives the southerners a stronghold only 113 miles away and a sea outlet near to Shanghai.

Cantonese sources at Hangchow reported the city had been looted and partly burned by the retreating northerners.

Another battalion of Suffolk troops is on the way here from Hongkong.

SIX OF EIGHT MEN SWEEP ACROSS BERING SEA IN AN OPEN CANOE ARE RESCUED

Tragic Story Told by Suffering Men Safe on Alaska Island

Sevoonga, St. Lawrence Island, Alaska, Feb. 18—(AP)—Six men in an open skin canoe for 500 miles across the Bering Sea from Siberia to this island under the lash of an Arctic storm, six survivors of a party of eight walrus hunters today were recounting a story of hardship, peril, suffering and tragic disaster.

Their arms and legs frozen, their eyes distended and swollen, and their scanty clothing in tatters, the six men finally reached the Eskimo village of Gambell on this island from where the story of their ill-fated battle with the elements has reached Sevoonga by radio.

Caught in Gale's Fury
Driven by approaching starvation to seek food, the eight men left a village on Little Max Bay, Siberia, Feb. 20, to hunt walrus. Venturing farther out on the icy sea after they had failed to find walrus near shore, the party was caught by the full fury of an Arctic gale.

After being lashed about on the waters for several days the hunters pulled their canoe onto a floating ice pack. There, suffering, cold and without food and fire, the little band spent the fourth night while the storm raged unabated about them.

Two Lost in Snow
The next day the drifting ice floe carried them to shore on St. Lawrence Island, although they did not know their location. Camping on the northern shore of the island, the hunters dug their beds for the night in the snow. The next morning, two of the party went foraging for food and failed to return. They have not since been seen.

Five of the starving group finally struggled into Gambell where the U. S. Bureau of Education maintains a school for the Eskimos. After a search headed by S. P. Troutman, government teacher at Gambell, the sixth member of the party was found nearly dead.

THIRTY-ONE MET DEATH IN STORM ALONG THE GULF

Tornadoes Swept Over Two States Leaving Death in Wake

New Orleans, La., Feb. 18—(AP)—Tornadoes that swept through parts of Louisiana and Mississippi last night, killed at least 31 persons and injured scores as well as leaving a trail of heavy damage.

The heaviest toll of death was taken at plantations south of Newellton, where 14 persons were reported killed and at least two score injured, with prospects of the total fatalities being increased as other neighboring plantations were heard from. Nine persons lost their lives and 18 were badly hurt near Pleasant Hill and eight were killed and several others injured near Rose Hill, Miss.

Winds Accompany Rain
High winds and heavy rains were accompanied by the storm as it moved eastward with increasing fury.

Fourteen were killed when the storm struck Newellton, near the Mississippi-Louisiana line. Many persons were injured there. Eight persons died and others were injured as the tornado swept across Mississippi. The deaths occurred at Rose Hill, where seven members of one family were killed and six other members of the same family were injured.

A doctor who visited the scene of the storm at Newellton, returned to Tallahassee with the statement that he had dressed the wound of 35 persons. The storm struck without warning, he said, and many houses in the section were destroyed. One family of white persons barely made their way to a storm cellar before their house was carried away by the wind.

Three injured are believed to be dying at Pleasant Hill and 25 or more were injured there. Most of the dead were plantation negroes.

Voliva Sells Zion Lots to Raise Cash

Chicago, Feb. 18—(AP)—The sale of pork and tobacco is forbidden and profanity is taboo in Zion, but the temptation of a pretty dollar for some lost their lives and 18 were badly hurt near Pleasant Hill and eight were killed and several others injured near Rose Hill, Miss.

Land values where Zion touches the lake front to the north of Chicago have doubled and redoubled in recent years and it was disclosed today that Wilbur Glenn Voliva, successor to the leadership of Dr. Dowdle, had explained to the colony that he expected to expand his business enterprises through sale of the land.

The city council, however, moved to prevent any breaking up of the community life by arranging to vote any sold lots out of the city limits, although one tract already disposed of lies within the city's boundary.

GREATEST TUNNEL IN AMERICA WILL BE OPENED AT PRESS OF KEY BY PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

Denver, Feb. 18—(AP)—Dreams of D. H. Moffatt, pioneer railroad builder, to shorten the mileage between the east and west coasts, became reality today as workmen placed explosives for the blast which President Coolidge will set off tonight to "hole through" the Moffatt Tunnel under the Continental Divide west of here. Only eight feet of rock separates the east from the west bore of the pioneer shaft used to expedite work on the main tunnel. Although a blizzard has piled snow over highways leading to the tunnel and accidents to the drainage system delayed work, engineers said today the President will be able to press the key at Washington at 8:10 o'clock which will blast out the barrier.

The main tunnel which is scheduled for completion next August will be used by the Denver & Salt Lake Railroad. It will shorten the route between Denver and Salt Lake by 173 miles. The bore is approximately six miles in length, the longest in the country.

SENATOR TAKES RESPONSIBILITY IN CLAIMS CASE

Absolves Daugherty, Miller in Trial in New York

New York, Feb. 18—(AP)—Senator Guy D. Goff of West Virginia took the stand in the Daugherty-Miller trial today and assumed all responsibility for the allowance of the claim for the $7,000,000 impounded assets of the American Metal Company.

In a voice that rang down the court room, Senator Goff declared, "I'm the man" in reply to the question, "Are you the man who passed these claims?"

Senator Goff was a sick man at the first trial of Daugherty and Miller. His answers were given in a weak voice. But today he used the witness chair as a dais from which he told the world that Harry M. Daugherty "never once spoke to me about those claims directly or indirectly."

"I want to take this occasion to tell the court, this jury and the world that neither Daugherty or Miller or Smith ever spoke to me of those claims, and if they, or anyone else had, it would have done him no good."

BATTLE NEARING TO DECIDE FATE OF NICARAGUANS

Additional Marines are Dispatched to Protect Americans

Washington, Feb. 18—(AP)—Anticipating that an impending clash between Diaz and Sacasa armies at Matagalpa will jeopardize American lives and property, the government is concentrating additional forces in Nicaragua.

A force of 1,600 marines is being dispatched to the Central American republic to be placed under the command of Rear Admiral Latimer in charge of the special service squadron in Nicaraguan waters. Their arrival will augment the marine troops in that country to 2,000 men.

The American government is understood to regard the Matagalpa impending battle as a critical situation, not only a possible danger to its citizens in Nicaragua, but also an important crisis in the civil war now raging in that Central American country.

Latest advices here indicate that Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, liberal claimant for the presidency, probably is unable to avert the impending conflict.

OLD MASTERS

They sit at home and they dream and daily

Baking the embers of long-dead years
But ye go down to the haunted Valley.

Light-hearted pioneers.

They have forgotten they ever were young.

They hear your songs as an unknown tongue.

But the flame of God through your spirit stirs.

Adventurers—O Adventurers!

They tithe their herbs and they count their tally.

Choosing their words that a phrase may live—

But ye cast down in the hungry

All that a man can give.

They prophesy smoothly, with weary smile.

Fulfilling their feeble appointed while.

But death himself to your pride defers.

Adventurers—O Adventurers!

—May Byron: "Adventurers."

LUNCHEON—Spaghetti in casserole, radishes, bran muffins, stewed stuffed figs, milk, tea.

DINNER—Cream of celery soup, broiled lamb chops, twice baked potatoes, Brussels sprouts in cheese sauce, grapefruit-cherry and Brazil nut salad, baked date and nut pudding, graham rolls, milk, coffee.

A fruit salad is always delicious served with a French dressing and if it's a dinner salad after a heavy meat course the French dressing is imperative. However, if the meat course is light as in the menu suggested, or if a fruit salad is chosen for luncheon, the dressing may be a real mayonnaise or a rich boiled dressing made tart with lemon juice in place of vinegar.

Spaghetti en Casserole

One cup spaghetti, 4 tablespoons shopped salt pork, 1 medium-sized carrot, 1 medium-sized onion, 2 large blades celery, 1 sweet pepper, 14 pound or about 4 mushrooms, 14 pound round steak, 1 cup canned tomato rubbed through a sieve, 2 teaspoons salt, 14 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, 2 tablespoons sifted dried bread crumbs.

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water for 20 minutes. Drain and rinse in cold water. Put one-half of the spaghetti into a well-buttered casserole. Put chopped salt pork into a hot frying pan and cook, stirring with a fork, until the fat cooks out and bits of meat begin to brown. Do not let the pork cook too fast. Scrape carrot, peel onion, wash celery, remove seeds from pepper and peel mushrooms. Put these ingredients with round steak through food chopper.

Add to fat and pork in pan and cook, stirring occasionally with a fork until mixture begins to brown. Add tomato pulp with salt, pepper and sugar and bring to the boiling point. Pour over spaghetti in casserole, cover with remaining spaghetti. Mix grated cheese and bread crumbs and sprinkle over top. Place in a moderately hot oven and bake until brown on top, about 20 minutes. Serve from casserole.

AMERICAN OPERA

HAILED AS SUCCESS

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Critics today hailed "The King's Henchman," an American opera by De Ems Taylor and Edna St. Vincent Millay, as the first successful effort to reconcile English words with operatic music.

Given its world's premiere before a capacity audience at the Metropolitan Opera House last night, "The King's Henchman" enjoyed an acclaim that indicated a successful season here and possible performances abroad. The house has been sold out for the second performance next Monday.

Mr. Taylor and Miss Millay have produced what is undoubtedly the most effective and artistically wrought American opera that has reached the stage, the Times says.

Other New York critics praised the work in similar terms.

the ceremony they returned to the home of the bride's parents where a delicious two course six o'clock dinner was served to the immediate relatives, using the bride's colors, pink and white in the scheme of serving and decorations.

Mrs. Crawford is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Pileon. Mr. Crawford is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crawford.

The program opened with an instrumental selection by Mrs. W. L. Ruskha which was very much enjoyed.

Rev. Worsching of the Rock Falls Methodist church gave an interesting talk on "Doing the Things We Want to Do."

Mrs. Ira Kendall gave a reading on the life of Lincoln and responded to the encore with a humorous reading. Mrs. Rae Krieder and Mrs. Wilbur Meyers accompanied by Mrs. Linn, gave a vocal duet which was greatly enjoyed. This trio is always welcomed and appreciated by the Prairieville community.

All present voted it an ideal day in every way.

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERRORS IN LAST PARAGRAPH

In the last paragraph of the article on the pageant of light at the meeting of the I. N. U. women employees Tuesday afternoon, at which time they entertained a large number of interested Dixon women, typographical errors and repetitions, spoiled the meaning which was meant to be conveyed. The correct version of the paragraph is:

"The party was an unqualified success. Refreshments were served to 200 guests from a daintily appointed table. Mesdames H. U. Barrywell and A. G. Burnham poured the expressions of the guests were highly gratifying. They were happy to meet the women of the company and proud of their achievements. things you can think of about bosses who expect double duty of a woman."

Then "Admirer" tells her story. She is one of these modern business women who can sell a lot as easily as their mothers flapped a flapjack. She travels from Dan to Bersheba, or perhaps it is from Ypsilanti to Godham for her firm, trailing prospects and coming back with the bacon in the shape of a few hundred thousand dollars worth of business. Her particular tale of woe goes like this.

SOUNDS SO FUNNY

"What I am going to tell you sounds so almost perfectly ridiculous when put down in black and white that you may hardly believe it. It seems so improbable that a man intelligent enough to be director of almost a million dollar firm could be so lapped-minded. But, anyway, here's the story. It revolves about silk stockings and crepe de chine slippers. Ah, do I have your interest? But the story is not as racy as that might indicate."

"The silk stockings and crepe slippers appeared on my expense account under the heading of laundry. I had been gone a month. My sum total laundry bill ran around $12. It would have been nearer $3 at home where I have it done by a woman who comes in about every two weeks and makes a grand cleanup of my toes. Naturally, anyone knows that expenses when on the road just about triple those at home. The boss, okaying the expense account, read each item zealously. He came to that laundry bill."

GOT VERY SARCASTIC

His pencil trailed a little. Then he looked at me sarcastically and said, "Don't tell me, Miss R., that you are one of those modern women who can't wash out a pair of stockings?" I was too amazed to make a really good come-back, but I did manage a "Well, if I can? Why should I?" and he remarked, "My wife washes her own—the inference being that if the wife of the man of millions could wash her own slippers, surely a mere underling drawing a pay check, should and could do so."

"The thing that made me especially furious was that right before him on his desk was an expense account from a male colleague with a laundry bill twice as high and I happened to know that this man had come back with about one-fourth the gate receipts I had."

The boss' mental process is easy. He lived in a generation of house-keeping women whose definite task was to wash and iron and mend. Changing conditions have forced the business woman upon him, the one who earns her keep in other but no less fatiguing ways than washing, mending and ironing, but he demands of her her today's work plus her yesterday's work, because that is the standard of woman's work he really knows and understands.

HAS WRONG VIEW

It just never occurs to him that the situation of the wife and employee are somewhat different; that it is one thing to wash one's own when it is a job after working hours. Fortunately, most business women can tell a different story. We can tell a story of an enlightened and far-sighted employerhood which will find this sock-washing story as funny as "us girls" do. But some of them still live in the dark ages. And sometimes I wonder if the girls aren't to blame themselves—if they themselves do not take the double duty role for granted and thus hurt the cause of all working women.

U. S. Women Launch Fine Arts Movement in China

Peking—(AP)—Transplanted art is flourishing here in what was formerly barren ground.

The Peking Institute of Fine Arts organized in 1919 by a group of American women, expects shortly to be housed in its own building with studios for the teaching of piano, voice, violin, cello, cornet, harmony, and composition and with a school of modern Chinese painting.

It has occupied buildings in the former Austrian legation compound which were vacant since the war, but an old Chinese palace on the Nanchihze, one of the chief thoroughfares of the capital, has been purchased and is being remodeled. The institute was originated by Mrs. Korn, wife of Dr. John Korn of the Rockefeller Foundation.

REED FOR PRESIDENT.

Senator James Reed of Missouri is growing as a candidate for the democratic nomination for the presidency. His boom was launched in Missouri last fall and he has not discouraged it. Successive events have been in his favor.

One of the indications of the direction of the wind, is the eulogy of Reed by Senator Caraway of Arkansas. When we use the word wind it is as the expression commonly is used and without particular reference to southern senators. The declaration of Senator Caraway was particularly significant because of the fact that he was an adherent to the league of nations policy of President Wilson, which Senator Reed vigorously opposed, and because Senator Caraway is notably dry, while Senator Reed is notably wet.

Notwithstanding these differences the Arkansas senator finds more in Senator Reed to approve than he finds in the candidates who brought the deadlock in the New York convention.

Senator Reed has outlived his differences with President Wilson, and the Wilson adherents have softened their attitude toward him. He is a northern democrat, and the nominee will be a northern democrat. The religious prejudice lodged against Governor Smith of New York is not applicable to him. Neither are the various prejudices that worked against McAdoo.

Election investigations of the last campaign, which will hang over into the presidential campaign, have served to advertise him, although he probably did not need that advertising. It may be more exact to describe the effect as placing him in limelight. That of itself does not prove sufficient, but taken with other circumstances it goes in his favor.

Senator Thomas Walsh of Montana was the chief investigator of the oil leases, but that inquiry was carried to such extremes that it did not help Walsh when the nomination was made. He was placed in the line of waiting by being made chairman of the New York convention. He waited and waited, but was not called.

The latest impetus given to the Reed boom was on occasion of an address delivered in New York in a convention of shoe dealers. New York itself may not have been a party to the aid and comfort given to the Missourian, as it was a national convention.

The Smith adherents will stand by Smith and the anti-Smith adherents will stand by McAdoo up to the time of the convention, but when eyes are turned away from these two central figures, they veer to Missouri.

A golfer teed off the other day at Mobile, Ala., on a cross-country to the Pacific coast, aiming to drive a golf ball all the way. If he would drink 132 cups of coffee every day on the way that would be news. . . . Publicity stunts are getting hotter. Pretty soon, in order to get his name into the papers, Daddy Browning will have to do his boozing with 26-inch guns and bring home mountain lions for his playmates. . . . The Mobile golfer expects to make a million and a half strokes on the way. His caddy should have spent his youth reading the life of Job or Joe Beckett. . . . One of these days 50 people will be killed in a train wreck and the city editor will sneer at the story because not one of them was insured for a million dollars.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Poor Clowny Tinymite was caught. Said Scouty, "Some day he'll be taught that he should be more careful and keep out of steeples' way. 'Oh, come and help me,' Clowny cried. And every little Tiny tried, but getting over to him was a lot more work than play.

Lee Coppy yelled, "Hang on real tight. The wind will soon make things all right. We'll have to wait until the breeze swings 'round about a bit. Of course we cannot walk, up there, 'cause if we could I'd run up near to turn you loose, but, as it is, we'll make the best of it."

Poor Clowny was a funny sight. The pointed steeple held him tight, so all that he could do was wait, and hope he did not slip. The others worked with hearty vim to try to get up close to him. It seemed they all were anxious to continue on their trip.

Then Scouty felt his body shake,

A breeze had caught him in its wake. It lifted him and landed him right close to Clowny's side. "Hurrah," the others yelled in glee. "Oh, Clowny now will soon be free." As Scouty jerked him loose they started on another ride.

On through the air they quickly flew and then, the first thing that they knew, they started shooting upward just as fast as they could go. Said Clowny, "Now we've taught to fear. We can't get caught on things, up here. I think that I'd much rather be up where the stiff winds blow."

Just then a big bird came in sight, and promptly eyes each Tinymite. And then he pecked a big balloon. It burst with a pop! In each one, then, he made a dent, and down the Tinymites all went. Of course it scared them very much. I wonder where they'll stop. I wonder (The Tinymites had a soft and safe landing in the next story.)

SAINT and SINNER

After leaving Frankel and Garner, Faith went immediately to her hotel where she locked the suitcase containing Cherry's exquisite wedding dress and the few other articles of her trousseau in the closet of her room. The sight of the empty suitcase which had held the luxurious, glistening mink coat wrenched her heart with pity for Cherry. But a little glow of triumph routed the pain. After all, she had a thousand dollars in its place, and a thousand dollars meant comfort for three or four months for the Lane family. She had an early dinner in a fantastically decorated tea room, ate slowly and with a faint edge of appetite, profoundly grateful for the fact that none of the stout, discontented-looking women who nibbled gluten bread and drank sugary tea gave her even a second glance.

In her home town she could not have taken a bite unobserved; every eye in the tea room would have been devouring her, avidly curious as to how she was "taking it"—her relationship to an accused murderer.

But here in Chicago she was merely a pale-faced, sad-eyed girl, not pretty enough to attract attention and too shabbily dressed to be looked upon with envious, speculative eyes. It was equally satisfying a little later to find herself an unobserved atom in a great, rooccoo palace devoted to vaudeville and motion pictures. She even laughed aloud at the antics of a comedian, and when the "feature picture" began to unravel, she forced herself to concentrate on the complicated foolish story as if it were the most important thing in the world. She was feeling almost cheerful and quite pleasantly tired and ready for bed when she returned to the small, ugly hotel.

The night clerk was obviously excited when she asked for her key.

"The lobby has been full of reporters all evening Miss Lane, waiting to see you. A couple of them are still here."

"Oh!" moaned Faith, casting a desperate, hunted look over her shoulder. "I don't want to see any reporters, please! Can't you help me? How did they know I was in Chicago?"

Before the clerk could answer a long-legged, carelessly dressed, sharp-faced young man came slouching toward the desk, removing a battered felt hat and extending a cordial hand as he did so.

"Miss Faith Lane? I'm Evans of The Chronicle. Sorry to trouble you so late, but we want a follow on that yarn The Express is running about your being here to sell your sister's trousseau for funds for her trial. Great stuff! I got a cameraman here and we'd like some pictures of you with the wedding dress. The Express is running a front page splash, showing Peggy Brainerd in the mink coat."

He stopped only when Faith held out her hands imploringly and looked as if she were going to faint.

"H-M-Y-E-S-I AM CONVINCED NOW, UM-M—THE WHOLE SOLUTION OF MY THEORY LIES IN EXTRACTION, CONCENTRATION, AND REDUCTION TO AN ESSENCE!—HAW—NOW, I HAVE SOMETHING TO WORK ON!"

HE'S TH' ONLY RUBBISH BARREL I KNOW THAT HAS A PLUG HAT FOR A COVER!

THE MAJOR'S PLAY-UP FOR HIS LATEST HUNCH—

ed as if she were going to faint.

"Please!" she gasped, so white that pity flickered for a moment in the reporter's keen blue eyes. "I had no idea the papers would get hold of this! I—can't pose for you. And—" she caught her breath sharply. "I have nothing else to sell." Her contralto voice, richened by tears, quivered on the lie but her eyes met his defiantly.

"Maybe you'd like to see The Express," the reporter suggested, drawing ing a folded paper from his coat pocket. "They sure splurged on it. And it's up to me to get a good, snappy follow on the story."

The paper shook violently in Faith's hands as her horrified eyes took in the great headlines and the two-column picture which occupied the center of the front page.

TOMORROW: Faith escapes from the reporters.

Delaney and Maloney in Pink of Condition for Their Scrap

TONIGHT'S BIG FIGHT
Principal: Jack Delaney, Bridgeport, light heavyweight champion, and Jim Maloney, Boston.
Place: Madison Square Garden.
Duration: Ten rounds, with decision of two judges and referee.
Time: Main bout 10 p. m.; preliminaries 8:15.
Attendance: 15,000.
Receipts: Approximately $200-000, establishing a record for indoor bout and exceeding by $37-000 record receipts of Berlenbach-Delaney indoor contest.
The bout will be broadcast by station WMSG on 302 meter wave length.

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The rapier fists of Jack Delaney, master of the light heavyweight realm, and the bludgeon strokes of Jim Maloney, Boston giant, tonight will mix at Madison Square Garden in one of the most picturesque heavyweight clashes ever staged indoors.
For ten rounds two of the mightiest punchers in the fist kingdom are scheduled to hew away at an obstacle each other—that blocks the trouble-studied path to Gene Tunney's world title. Thousands of dollars have been wagered at even money that a knockout will send the winner flying ahead on the golden road of Tex Rickard's elimination tournament.

In perfect condition, both mentally and physically, the Boston bombshell and Bridgeport fencing master awaited the going.
A ticket scandal, called the worst of its kind in the history of legal boxing, rocked the arena as thousands of enthusiasts sought tickets for the fight. Speculators offered choice seats at prices as high as $150 each.
Some tickets purchased from speculators as evidence were traced to the allotment of Dan Carroll, manager of Maloney and others to the quota of the boxing commission itself.

Tex Rickard will have the match broadcast from station WMSG on a 302 meter wave length direct from the inside. The main event is scheduled for not later than 10 p. m.
Broadcasting of preliminary matches will begin early in the evening.
The popular impression that Delaney would win through his speed, ring craft and crushing right hand punch, appeared to govern the waging.
Maloney's supporters, stressing the Boston slinger's weight advantage of 25 pounds, backed him to win through his tremendous strength.

ELBRIDGE GERRY, NOTED FRIEND OF CHILDREN, DEAD

Grandson of Signer of Declaration of Independence, Also

(Picture on Page 1)
New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Elbridge
T. Gerry, lawyer, yachtsman, financier and active for many years as the guiding spirit in the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, died at his home here today in his 90th year.

The grandson of a signer of the Declaration of Independence and the father of a United States Senator, Elbridge Thomas Gerry established his own name along lines outside national politics.
Much of his long life, however, was devoted to public service. Besides becoming widely known as lawyer, banker and yachtsman, he served on many important commissions in the state of New York and worked energetically to improve the condition of the children of New York City.
Mr. Gerry, born in New York City on Christmas Day, 1837, was a grandson of Elbridge Gerry of Massachusetts, who was a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and the fifth Vice President of the United States.
He was graduated from Columbia University in 1857 and was admitted to the New York bar in 1859.
On State Commission
He held his first public position in 1857 when he was a member of the New York constitutional convention.
He served as chairman of the New York commission on capital punishment which in 1858 substituted the electric chair for hanging as the penalty for murderers in that state.
In 1859 he was chairman of the executive committee for the celebration of the centennial of the inauguration of George Washington and in 1892 he was chairman of the New York city commission on insanity.
Ever since 1856 he had been known to his friends as Commodore Gerry.
He had been interested in yachting for some time and in that year he was elected commodore of the New York Yacht club, a position which he held for seven years. His flagship, the steam yacht Electra, became familiar to residents of the leading ports of this country and Europe.

Good Entertainer
The commodore was fond of entertaining and on each annual cruise of the club the Electra had its full quota of guests. His affection for this yacht was such that when his advancing years led him to the regretful decision to quit the sea for his recreation he would not sell the Electra nor permit her to be used by anyone else. He ordered the yacht dismantled.
Early in life Mr. Gerry became interested in the welfare of the children in New York. He worked, wrote and gave in their behalf and from 1876 to 1901 he was vice president of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. This interest also was extended to dumb animals and for many years he served as vice president of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.
Another of his humanitarian activities was his service as a governor of the New York Hospital from 1873 to 1912.

Prominent Banker
In addition to his extensive law practice he had numerous banking affiliations. He had served as a director of the Fifth Avenue Trust

Company of New York, the Newport Trust Company of Newport, R. I., and the Industrial Trust Company of Providence.
He accumulated a notable law library containing 30,000 volumes.
In the later years of his life he made his home in Newport. His residence, Seaview, was one of the oldest of the summer homes in this city.
He was a member of the Reading Room of Newport, the Hope Club of Providence, the Somerset Club of Boston, the Metropolitan and Knickerbocker Clubs of New York, the Fort Orange Club of Albany and the Metropolitan Club of Washington.
From 1877 to 1913 he was a trustee of the General Theological Seminary and from 1895 to 1902 a trustee of the American Museum of Natural History.
He was married in 1867 to Louisa
M. Livingston, who died some years ago. They had two sons, U. S. Senator Peter Goelet Gerry of Rhode Island, and Robert Livingston Gerry, and two daughters, Miss Angelica
Gerry and Mrs. Francis Saxham Elwes Drury.

Flashes of Life
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
London.—American and English flappers are alike in the opinion of Mrs. Jane Highbly of San Jose. "They both like their cocktails and their smokes and both insist on doing as they like," she told the San Jose club.
Washington.—Senator Wadsworth of New York, an Episcopalian, wishes the newspapers to "squell the religious poison which is being spilled in the senate." He told the National Press club such poison soon would make neighbors enemies and divide the nation on religious lines.
Newark, N. J.—Thomas E. Edison, founder of Port Myers, Fla., for two months vacation, took fifty books including some of De Maupassant's works and "On the Trail of the Un-

SMITHS BEAT ST. MARY'S
Although the E. C. Smith School won the basketball game at the "Y" yesterday afternoon, the St. Mary's boys had them greatly worried in the first quarter. Everyone was surprised at the great improvement in the St.
Mary's team. By the end of the first quarter the E. C. Smith had their first line-up in the game. In the second half, O'Connor of St. Mary's sunk a sensational shot from a long, difficult angle. The whole crowd thundered applause. Blackburn of the E. C. Smith was high score man with 11 points. E. C. Smith won the game, 19 to 5.

Good Thoughts for Good People

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved.—John.

God is everywhere; the God who framed mankind to be a mighty family. Himself our Father, and the world our home.—Coleridge.

Humility, that low, sweet root, From which all heavenly virtues shoot. Moore

With malice towards none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in.—Lincoln.

Heaven's harmony is universal love—Cowper.

God is infinite love! How this great truth appeals to us as it strikes irresistibly at all that is unlovely and unloving! How can disease, poverty—human suffering in any form—continue to haunt themselves as real in the face of this great truth of love's infinity? They cannot. What is wrong in mankind's poverty-stricken understanding and realization of the fact of God's aliveness.—Christian Science Sentinel.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Minister, Ben H. Cleaver
Residence, 703 Brinton Ave.
February as a month of special emphasis on Bible reading and communion is standing out as the best mid-winter month for years. 1927 committees are assuming their work, and the pastor rejoices in their cooperation. The sermons on Sunday morning follow the Book of Acts, and that of next Sunday, covering the third fourth of the book, will be: "The Church Organizing." Readers will note that chapter eleven, verse fifteen, clearly sets Pentecost as the church's birthday, and by keeping Acts in mind as a record of the genesis and progress of the church in its visible, operative form, the perusal of the Book becomes more intelligible and consecutive.

The evening sermon will be on the question, "Is Undenominational Christianity Possible and Desirable?" Bible School opens at 9:30; topic, "Our Endeavor as Christian Citizens." The union class in "Expert Endeavor" will meet at the church at 4 o'clock, Sunday afternoon.

Every Christian should hear this message.

6:30 p. m. Christian Endeavor. Dr. Cooke who has had many years experience in young people's work will speak at this service.

THE BETRAYAL OF JESUS AND ITS MODERN EQUIVALENT

A large and deeply interested audience faced Dr. Boynton at the First Baptist church as he discussed the above subject. Miss Vivian Graves led the singing and sang a beautiful solo and Mr. Ira Lewis presided at the organ.

The Doctor took for his Scripture, Matthew Chapter 26 verses 44 to 56. He said: "This is a very sombre theme. Judas is one of the most mysterious characters in history and there is always the lure to investigate his motives. Why did he do it? What does it mean? And what are the modern equivalents to him and his character. He had been travelling up and down the Holy Land in intimate fellowship with Jesus and yet when difficulties came and disciples fell away, when he asked the question, 'Will ye also go away?' Judas did not leave Him. Why did he not fall away before.

There is one illuminating text that throws some light upon his character. "Not that he cared for the poor but he was a thief and he carried the bag." In other words he was the treasurer of the little band and appropriated to his own uses the money which he passed through his hands. This justifies our characterization of Judas.

Did he betray his Master for thirty pieces of silver? No I do not think so. Not for silver, not because he loved the high priest or had any special fondness for the old Jewish faith. No, say he did it because he thought it would force a manifestation of Kingship and temporal power. Judas wished to exploit Jesus for his own personal use. He followed Jesus and found to his chargin and disappointment that there seemed no prospect of His Earthly Regime coming and he thought he would force the issue. His idea was that if Jesus was compelled to declare Himself that, in the Kingdom, he would aspire to high office for he was the only one with brains and ambition in the little group of disciples. He held himself aloof and looked upon himself as a dominant power. He looked upon Jesus with disdain and contempt and set himself to use Him for his own selfish purposes.

Many people are modern equivalents of Judas. They join the church, not to help the church or other people, but to help themselves. A certain judge who ruled his home with a rod of iron and whose judgment must not be gainsayed by his family when he wrecked his home and love ones, all his family had left him.

A man of dominant will who refused to surrender any opinion he held and who was arbitrary in his statements, when remonstrated with by the Doctor when he was pastor in San Francisco, said: "Young Man, listen to me. If an angel from God came down to me and tried to get me to give up my own will, I would let the heavens be convulsed and the earth be destroyed before I would do it." These are the modern equivalents of Judas who wreck homes and destroy churches.

Surrender your will tonight and let your souls give that mysterious release.

sponse that obeys the Holy Spirit's Judas was not the great mind in that little band. Some in it dared death, faced flogging and shame and contempt and today many towns are named and their names are written in letters of gold upon the page of history because they loved their Master and surrendered themselves wholly to His Divine Leadership.

Tonight at 7:15 p. m. prayer meeting in the East Room of the church and Dr. Boynton at 7:30 p. m. will bring to us a special message to young people on "How to be a successful Christian." Miss Vivian will also bring her Master's message in song.

Come. A hearty welcome awaits you and you will enjoy the bright, breezy meeting at the First Baptist church.

Many people are modern equivalents of Judas. They join the church, not to help the church or other people, but to help themselves. A certain judge who ruled his home with a rod of iron and whose judgment must not be gainsayed by his family when he wrecked his home and love ones, all his family had left him.

A man of dominant will who refused to surrender any opinion he held and who was arbitrary in his statements, when remonstrated with by the Doctor when he was pastor in San Francisco, said: "Young Man, listen to me. If an angel from God came down to me and tried to get me to give up my own will, I would let the heavens be convulsed and the earth be destroyed before I would do it." These are the modern equivalents of Judas who wreck homes and destroy churches.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

MOTIVE—HOMESICKNESS

Dixon Telegraph—Seated at my desk, seeking some way to occupy my time, I drew from my place, where it has rested for more than 25 years, a copy of the Dixon Telegraph, bearing the date of May 1, 1901, which purported to be a semi-centennial of its birth, growth and progress; and for two hours I perused its contents and viewed the familiar features of old time residents of Dixon. All of which created a desire to know something of the present as it relates to Dixon. And since I cannot recall the name of a single old time acquaintance known now to be a resident of Dixon, I am prompted to appeal to you, what ought to be the best authority, who probably never heard of me, and am enclosing my subscription for your paper, likely to give me that information.

Now as to my identity. Will say I am now nearly 51 years of age, having first seen the light of day in May, 1876, and will add that at the birth of the Telegraph, while I was a resident of the Dixon Telegraph, I was a reader of its first issue, owing to the fact that some of my uncles, then residents of Dixon—L. E. Aaron, James Porter or William Haines—had entered my father's name on the subscription list, which was continued for many years. Therefore many of the instances narrated in the souvenir number were quite familiar to me, and an occasional personal keeps them so.

Almost 185 or 58 my father concluded to investigate the claims of the west, possibly somewhat influenced by the representations of the Telegraph, and he came to Dixon; and being favorably impressed wrote for

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
Death strikes GARRETT FOLSON while bathing at Ocean Town, N. J. It is thought at first he is a stroke victim, but investigation shows he has been stabbed to death beneath the water.
Folson's swimming companions had been ROBIN SEARS, a business partner, MISS HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON. It is established that Folson, just before his death, had been standing next to NED BARRON, known as the copper king.

ANASTASIA FOLSON, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is learned that the death weapon was a pickaxe or Oriental knife, and that it had been bought on the boardwalk.
It is also established that one CROYDON SEARS is a fanatical collector of knives. Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives, and Anastasia, a seafaring woman, begins to question him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIII

ANASTASIA FOLSON was not at all unkindly, but she was straightforward and direct of speech and her eyes flashed with a sort of veiled warning.

"Your father bought several daggers at that auction?"

"Two, madam," said Robin, quietly.

"What for?"

"As he stated at the inquest, to add to his collection."

"Yes, I heard him. Why did he go out late, on a stormy night, to buy daggers for his collection?"

"Because that was the night on which the auction was held. Mr. Meeker also bought daggers at that sale."

"I know that. But Mr. Meeker was not acquainted with my brother. Your father was."

"I don't think he was, Miss Folson, though I am not sure. But even so, he had a perfect right to buy antique curios, if he chose."

"Oh, yes, a perfect right. That is, if he bought them for antique curios. But if he bought them for use as deadly weapons, his right is not so unquestionable."

Robin had had about all he could stand.

Naturally courteous, he hesitated to speak sternly to a woman; yet he felt the time had come.

Titie Riggs was watching him closely; so was Pelton.

Neville and the two women with him had taken chairs nearby, and were curiously listening to this dialogue.

Anastasia Folson was regarding Robin Sears with an eager gaze that held in it not so much of enmity as inquiry, almost as if she hoped for some plausible and satisfactory explanation.

But Robin was at the end of his rope. The words "deadly weapons" had so roused his ire that he felt a direct response was called for.

"Miss Folson," he said, "my father did buy those daggers for his collection. But your insinuation is too definite to be ignored, and I think I must ask you to cross to the other side of the deck and say to him what you have said to me."

"I shall be very glad to do so," Anastasia said, rising at once.

"Come with me, Dan. And you, too, Mr. Riggs. No one else."

And led by Robin, white-faced and flashing-eyed, they crossed to where Croydon Sears sat reading a newspaper.

"Dad," Robin said, "will you put down your paper, please?"

"Surely," said Sears, rising as Miss Folson drew near.

She spoke at once.

"I am here to ask you, Mr. Sears," she began, "about the daggers you bought at the auction last Thursday night."

"Yes, Miss Folson; what about them?"

Croydon Sears looked at her calmly.

"My dear madam," he said, "I am truly sorry for you. I know how anxious you are to learn the slayer of your brother, and I am glad to be of any help I can. I do not resent your questions, for I know they are the desperate efforts of an anguished heart. As to my position in the ocean that morning, I can only say I was bathing in the midst of a crowd of people a long distance away from the spot where your brother met his death. As many near me can testify, I was standing near the next rope, fully fifty feet away from the rope at which Mr. Folson was standing. It would therefore have been impossible for me to commit that crime, even if it had been one of my daggers which

CHILDREN'S SORE THROAT

Mothers know that children's sore throats are serious, often leading to tonsillitis, scarlet fever or diphtheria. Also that it is hard to treat because the usual remedy is a gargle and children can not gargle.

A famous physician's prescription called Thymine works on new principle—goes direct to the cause not reached by gargles and patent medicines and brings relief within 15 minutes or money back.

And the remarkable thing about it is it contains no iron, chloroform or dope—harmless and safe, pleasant taste. Remember, relief within 15 minutes or money back. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Rowland's Pharmacy and all good druggists.—Adv.
